

3) FCP XML File is imported into Final Cut Pro and clips appear as multichannel masterclip entries grouped together, with timestamp and full metadata, automatically named 'scene/take'

4) After FCP Editorial, the finished sequence is exported to XML and XMLPro converts this to a Pro Tools session with level automation. This session still directly references the original source BWF files recorded by the iXML recorder.